

Ted Casablanca

Gossip Guru and Writer of the Awful Truth

Dec 1, 2006

SOS (Save Our Spears)

Seen' as how my former favorite pop tart Britney Spears seems to be shooting herself in the foot with a bazooka lately, I'm hoping you Awful-ites can help her out with some sound advice.

Since filing for divorce from Kevin Federline, she's gone ice-skating with former manager Larry Rudolph, painted the town pantyless with Paris and partied with oily heir extraordinaire Brandon Davis. Some of these moves have been wiser than others for her career mojo, but one thing's certain: Almost everyone has an opinion on what she should do next. Well, now's your chance to weigh in: Just tell us what you think Brit should do to stage a surefire career comeback.

Your two cents could be repaid with some gratis goodies—the very same loot that was recently gifted to such hot Hollywood moms and moms-to-be as Britney, Bryce Dallas Howard and Amanda Peet! The three funniest, most original answers will win one of the following:

Third prize: Spa goodies and pampering products from Dermalogica, Klean, Princess Potions, Voluspa and Vibrel

Second prize: Cute 'n' comfy threads from hot mama maternity line Theality, The Modern Girl's Guide to Motherhood and a Ruby's Kids baby wipe case

First prize: A Cameron Nicole Italian leather handbag that doubles as a diaper bag

You have until next Friday, so put on those thinking caps that double as follicle conditioners, and click here to enter. We'll post the winning replies in Tuesday's mailbag on Dec. 12.